The Action of the Convention.

The work of the delegates on Saturday, the official proceedings of which will be found in another column, will naturally excite much interest in this county. Of course, it was to be expected when there were so many candidates, in whose behalf, pledges were claimed to have been made by so many members, which, if made were disregarded, that there must be some disappointment. Right here we remark that the practice which has grown up in connection with the Convention system of securing the election only of pledged delegates, is likely to be full of mischief. Where there are several offices, one or two may be successful in securing the nomination, while all others are subject to the risk of defeat unless bargains can be made. Delegates ought to be chosen, simply with reference to their fitness, and because they will do what they believe to be right in all cases. When this is done, their action will inspire the confidence of the party, and leave no room or chance for complaint about bargains, or the running of party machinery in an improper manner.

The candidates nominated are generally well known. Maj Philip Wasserman, who served the county very acceptably, at the last session, Messrs L H Wakefield and John Powell are named for Representatives. Of course, they will be elected, and we have no doubt that they will serve their constituents with zeal and efficiency. They are understood,—we do not know on what authority—to prefer the election of Mr. Pearne as Senator.

Of Mr. Coulson, candidate for Clerk, we need not speak; he is well known throughout the county, and his acceptable services heretofore in the same position, is a guarantee that he will do his duty.

For the office of Sheriff, there was a sharp and lively contest, resulting in the selection of Jacob Stitzel, of this city. His arduous and long continued exertions to secure the nomination show's that patience and perseverance will accomplish wonders. He will doubtless, make an active and satisfactory public officer, and prove that no mistake was made in finally adopting him as the candidate.

We are unable this morning for the want of space to refer to the other candidates.

A SHAMELESS PROCEEDING.—A few weeks since the Abolition leaders of New York got up a grand demonstration in behalf of some negro troops. The darkies were marched to Union Square, in the most aristocratic and fashionable portion of the city, and there welcomed and feted and feasted by the ladies of John Jacob Astor, Jr, and other millionaires. A flag presentation from these shameless women closed the exercises, who pledged themselves to the negroes thus:

"We will anxiously watch your career, glorying in your heroism, ministering to you when wounded and ill, and honoring your martyrdom with benedictions and with tears."—Eugene Review.

Wherein consists the shamelessness? We cannot see it. A regiment of negroes desiring to serve their country have enlisted in its defence and on the way to the battle field, are encouraged and thanked by ladies for their patriotism, and aid and assistance are promised to them, if wounded or ill. That is all now, is it shameless to thank negroes, or is it shameless to encourage patriotism? A true gentleman or lady will as promptly thank, reward and take care of a negro rendering a favor, as of a white man. It is a mark of low breeding which stamps base birth. If that then was the shamelessness, it must consist in praising the darky regiment for being patriotic! Is that the idea of the Review? That would be more consistent with its position, and save it from the mortification of acknowledging that it would insult ladies for doing what becomes everybody, who expects to be courteous.

WASHINGTON, April 29.—In the Senate, Nesmith called up the House bill to establish Branch Mints at Carson, N T, and Dalles City, Oregon. The amendments in regard to Dalles City was stricken out and the clause regarding Carson adopted. The bill passed.

POLITICAL SPEAKING—HENDERSON VS KELLY—WITH A VERDICT FOR THE PLAINTIFF.—At the theatre on last Saturday night there was a house full and to spare, to hear the rival candidates for Congress, Mr Henderson and Col Kelly. Our fellow townsman, Mr Frazar presided, and introduced the speakers to the audience. The ball was opened by the Union candidate at about half past seven and closed by his opponent about midnight. During the progress of the discussion there was some going and coming on the part of the audience, but even the late hour at which the speaking closed saw the benches still well filled, and throughout the whole evening much interest and feeling was manifested by the hearers.

Mr Henderson got off slowly at first, but warmed up with the progress of his subject. Some of his points were as follows. First. The difference between what he conceived to be the true and false democracy, contending that the former was a government by a majority of the people, and implied submission by the minority, with an appeal if they considered themselves aggrieved, or the country wronged, not to arms, but to the sober second thought of the people. In this sense he was a democrat; but his opponent or the party which he represented not.

Second, The doctrine of equality of men as announced in the Declaration of Independence, contending that all men of whatever race or color, were entitled to their G d given rights—the rights of nature—such as the right to wife and children, to wages for labor, to physical, intellectual and spiritual culture and improvement, in short, as Mr Lincoln once quaintly said, to have all artificial weights removed from their shoulders and allowed to make all the progress and improvement in this world of which their natures and capacities would permit.

Third, The key-note of the democratic platform, the Kentucky and Virginia resolutions. Upon this subject, Mr Henderson was often most happy and forcible, bringing down the house with loud rounds of applause. He showed conclusively, that these resolutions, however they might be panoplied with the armor of historic names, which party traditions and events had made famous, still taught nullification and secession in all their anarchical forms, and taught nothing else.

Fourth. That the United States was a government made and ordained by the people of the United States, and could not be unmade by States, and should not.

Besides these, Mr H dwelt at more or less length upon the causes of the war, the power of the Government to protect itself in time of war from the disaffected and traitorous at home, and amalgamation, or as the new jaw-breaker has it, miscegenation, a mixing of races. Upon this latter subject he was disposed to be "sarcastical," and advised that the negroes, when freed, should be set apart from the reach of the democrats, or that in less than forty years the party would all be come mulattoes. Mr Henderson is evidently a man of faith and feeling in what he says, and is not disposed to trim or compromise. On the Crittenden compromise, he attempted no special pleading, but frankly owned that the republicans didn't want it, that he didn't want it, that the "Constitution as it is" was good enough for him. To Abraham Lincoln we should think he was drawn by a natural affinity, and evidently he trusts him as a leader sent of God. Take it all in all, his speech, though plain and sometimes labored, was felt by his hearers, and will be remembered to his favorable account by the voters of this place on the first Monday in June next.

Col Kelly opened with a warm denunciation of the weak kneed democrats who had deserted the old party, as he said, so soon as it passed under a cloud, and predicted that it would again emerge upon the horizon in triumph, to the great joy of the faithful, and dismay and shame of the backsliders and time-servers. Until then nothing would go right.

He next undertook the defense of the K and V resolutions, and labored hard and long by the use of great names to show that they had been regarded as orthodox,—after they had all been explained away. The Col done as well as could be expected on this subject; but the task was one evidently not to his taste or liking, and we think if he ever has the good or bad luck to run for Congress again (and he must to be elected,) that he will see to it that no stupid marplots, in getting up a platform are allowed to hang such another mill-stone about his neck.

From this subject the Col, gladly hurried off into the general question of, who is responsible for the war? involving, of course, a history of the slavery agitation north and south for the last forty years, and why the Crittenden compromise was not adopted. Along here he intended to be severe upon what he denominated the Pharisaical intermeddlers of the North, who, acting upon the principle that they were the Holy ones of earth, had goaded the South to desperation, with a view of bringing on this war, so that they would then have a pretext and an opportunity to abolish slavery, and run the ploughshare of destruction over the Southern country. And now, having accomplished their wicked designs, they turned round with hypocritical complacency, and say the South fired the first gun,—in other words, knocked the chip off our shoulders, after we had dared and double dared them to do it. But we cannot repeat all of the Col's serious and highly colored diatribe. This will suffice for a specimen brick, the rest was to the same effect ad nauseum. Kelly, of course expects to be beaten, and beaten badly, and in mercy we do not feel like adding anything to the heavy burden which his party have placed upon his broad back, in the shape of those seditious resolutions. So, more in sorrow than in anger we bid the Colonel good bye, good-bye.

The Personal Character of Mr Lincoln

In the course of an elaborate and able speech on the question of reconstruction, delivered in the House of Representatives on the 19th of March, Mr Arnold, of Illinois, spoke in this wise of the personal character of Mr Lincoln

Let us see what had been his previous training for his great work. It was not the training of the schools; it was battle. It was the struggle with difficulties among the people. He had the foundation of perfect integrity, truth, candor, sobriety, self-control, self-reliance, modesty. With clear judgment, sound common sense, shrewd knowledge of human nature, he is the most American of Americans. He had received a single term in Congress, but his education and preparation was among the people in humble and homely positions, as flat-boatman, rail-splitter, surveyor, a member of the legislature in a frontier State, a lawyer riding the circuit in the log court houses of the West. Whoever in university schooling few if any have had a better training to develop and strengthen their intellectual powers than he. This may seem strange, but let me explain and its truth will I think be conceded.

He was trained at the bar in a school where giants were his competitors and he bore off the palm. Some twenty years ago there gathered around the plain pine tables of the frontier court houses of central Illinois a very remarkable combination of men. Among them, and conspicuously their leader, were Abraham Lincoln; Stephen A. Douglas, his great political rival; Lyman Trumbull, Chairman of the Judiciary Committee of the Senate; J D Baker, the able, the eloquent Senator, soldier and martyr to liberty; Gen James Shields, who won a high reputation at Washington and on the battle fields of Mexico; Gen John J Hardin, an eloquent lawyer who fell on the bloody field of Buena Vista; James A McDougall, the present Senator from California; William A Richardson, present Senator from Illinois, and Gen John A McClernand, now in the field. Besides these was the late Governor Bissell, whose manly vindication of the bravery of the Illinois troops in Mexico against the aspersions of Jeff Davis will be well remembered, a vindication which resulted in a challenge from the traitor Davis, which was accepted by Bissell but from which Davis backed down, it is said under the advice of Gen Taylor. These men of national reputation and others equally able, but whose pursuits have been confined at home, were the competitors of Lincoln. These were the men in contact with whom Abraham Lincoln was trained for the terrible ordeal through which he is passing.

The contest between Lincoln and Douglas, in 1858, was the most remarkable in American history. They were the acknowledged leaders each of his party. Both, men of great and marked individuality of character. The prize was the Senatorship of the great State of Illinois, and the success of the Republican or Democratic party. Douglas had the additional stimulant of the Presidency in view. These trained leaders met, at designated places, and in the presence of immense crowds of people debated the great questions at issue. Douglas went through this campaign like a conquering hero. He had his special train of cars, his band of music, his body guard of devoted friends, his cannon carried on the train, the firing from which announced his approach to the place of meeting. Such a canvass involved necessarily very large expenditures, and it has been said that Douglas did not expend less than $50 000 in this canvass. Some idea of the plain, simple frugal habits of Mr Lincoln may be gathered, when I tell you that at its close, having occupied several months, Mr Lincoln said with the idea, apparently, that he had been somewhat extravagant "I do not believe I have spent a cent less than $500 in this canvass."

Mr Arnold sketched the scene at the inauguration of Mr Lincoln, rapidly reviewed the condition of the country at the outbreak of the rebellion, and continued as follows

However others have doubted and hesitated, Mr Lincoln's faith in the success of our cause has never been shaken. He has been radical in all that concerns slavery, and conservative in all that relates to liberty. His course upon the slavery question has shown his love of freedom, his sagacity and his wisdom. From the beginning he has believed that the rebellion would dig the grave of slavery. He has allowed the suicide of slavery to be consummated by the slaveholders themselves. Many have blamed him for going too fast in his anti-slavery measures, more, I think, have blamed him for going too slow, of which I have been one. History will perhaps give him credit for acting with great and wise discretion. The calm, intelligent, philosophic abolitionists of the old world, uninfluenced by the passions which surround and color our judgments, send across the ocean congratulation and admiration on the success and wisdom of his course.

The three leading features of his administration on the subject of slavery are 1 His proclamation of emancipation. 2 The employment of negroes as soldiers. 3 The amnesty proclamation, making liberty the corner stone of reconstruction. The Emancipation proclamation will live in history as one of those great events which measures the advance of the world. The historian will rank it along side with the acquisition of magna charta and the Declaration of Independence. This great state paper was issued after the most careful and anxious reflection, and concludes with these solemn words "And upon this act, sincerely believed to be an act of justice warranted by the Constitution and military necessity I invoke the considerate judgment of mankind and the gracious favor of Almighty God." The considerate judgment of mankind on both sides of the ocean, have already approved it, and God has seemed to favor it with a series of victories to our arms never witnessed before its issue—a series of victories, for which we are more indebted to the President than any other man.

Mr Arnold has enjoyed the intimate acquaintance of Mr. Lincoln for twenty years, and therefore this graceful tribute is the expression of personal knowledge of the President's character.

PUGH.—The Cincinnati Enquirer (Copperhead) announces that George E. Pugh, who was nominated by the Ohio Democratic Convention as one of the Presidential Electors for the State, declines the honor. His excuse is thus given

It would be entirely incompatible and impossible with his business arrangements, in his opinion, for him to accept a position where, in justice to the party, he would be obliged to canvass the State in its behalf. It was a severe tax upon him last Summer, when he devoted so much of his time to the election, in connection with his nomination as Lieutenant Governor, and it is now imperatively necessary that he should have a respite from so arduous political labor

In other words, the utter defeat of the Copperheads in Ohio last year so disgusted Pugh that he won't try it again!

EFFECT OF INCREDULITY.—In the city of London, at the time when in the midst of the great commercial panic—the South American mines having gone through taking with them the coal and tin mines of England—all confidence seemed to be gone—there was no value for anything. A gentleman offered to bet that you could not sell gold in the street for it weight in silver. 'Done! done!' and the experiment was tried. A ragged fellow was put upon London bridge with an old hat full of newly coined sovereigns, which he offered for half a crown apiece declaring aloud, as they ran through his fingers into the hat so as to dazzle and astonish the bystanders that they were warranted pure gold right out of the mint! Men stopped, handled them, looked knowing, laughed, winked and passed on, and it is said that only four were sold (and those for whist counters, or pocket pieces,) to a man who got handsomely jeered for his folly, since they told him he could buy the same for sixpence apiece at any of the fancy dealers

ON THE WATCH FOR THEM!—Some of the secesh of this city may yet come to grief if they do not keep quiet tongues in their heads. We understand that some of our military officers are on the watch for noisy ones, who delight to talk treason "in their cups." Packing sand at Fort Churchill is not a very pleasant occupation.—Virginia Bulletin

CHICAGO, May 4.—A letter from Alexandria (La) of the [illegible] of April says: The offensive campaign against [illegible] for the present is at an end. General Banks' army is [illegible] on this place; the advance of the baggage trains arrived last night, and the whole army will be here in a day or two. The iron gun boats are just above the falls, two miles from Alexandria [illegible] eight of the [illegible] which draw too much water to enable them to get over the shoals. It is impossible to [illegible] Gen [illegible] On the 22d of April the rebels burned 2000 bales of cotton within 15 miles of Alexandria. The rebels fell upon our forces from Grand Ecore and when near Cane river an engagement took place in which the rebels lost 1000 men and 9 pieces of artillery. Alexandria has been fortified and the works are being extended.

Guerrillas under Quantrell, are infesting the banks of the Red river and have already committed many depredations. They have captured and burned the steamer Hastings, and fired into the gun boat Benton killing the captain and 20 of the crew.

This needs confirmation. The rebels are felling trees on the Ouchita river, destroying wagon roads and cutting off communications by water with Steele.

WASHINGTON May 5.—The Republican issued an extra to-day containing the following: We feel authorized to state that the Army of the Potomac has advanced towards Richmond, and a struggle for the rebel capital is about to begin. Our army moved on Tuesday night, and has now crossed the Rapidan. The crossing was made at Jacob's, Culpepper, Germania and United States fords, and was effected without serious opposition. Lee has been compelled to fall back from the strong position with which he has held us at bay all winter.

NATIONAL DEBT MEASURED AND WEIGHED.—John Fair, a calculating machine of this city, thus measures and weighs four thousand millions of dollars, which he assumes is, or is to be, a National debt.

It has been said that this debt is so great that it is too vast for comprehension. Now, as a practical man, I propose to weigh it and measure it, that we may thereby obtain a more definite idea of its immensity. A silver dollar measures one and a half inches in diameter. Eight dollars placed edge to edge will make one foot in length, and twenty four dollars so placed will make one yard in length and $42,240 so placed will make one mile in length. The earth is 21,600 miles in circumference. It would therefore require $912,384 000 to go once around it. This vast sum must be multiplied by four and four tenths to make it equal the amount of our National debt, which would make the silver dollars go around the earth's circumference four times and cover 8,640 miles beside. Allowing a silver dollar to weigh an ounce, sixteen to a pound, two thousand pounds to the ton, our debt would weigh 125,000 tons, and would require one hundred and twenty five ships, of one thousand tons burden each, to carry its. It would make 62,500 truck loads of two ton each, and calculating that each truck will cover a space of thirty feet, they would stretch a distance of three hundred and fifty-five miles and make a chain of trucks which would encompass the great cities of New York, Albany and Troy in an eliptical line. It would take a man three hundred and sixty five years and forty days to count the amount of this vast debt, estimating that he would count sixty dollars per minute, working ten hours a day and six days a week.—*N. NOTICE.

Terrapin Lunch

AT THE

JEWEL,

This Day, at 11 o'clock A. M.

Mr. R. Hockaday stated that he was induced to try Dr. Wm. Hall's Balsam for the Lungs from the recommendation of others. He gave it to a child eleven months old, also used it in his family generally for coughs and colds and in every instance found immediate relief and that he would not be without it. Mr. J. B. Mellor states that he used Dr. Wm. Hall's Balsam for the Lungs with great benefit to himself; he was entirely relieved of a severe cough. His neighbor was bleeding at the Lungs, to whom he administered a part of one bottle and it entirely cured him. Mr. John Davis was cured of a severe cough and also gave it to his infant child for the whooping cough, and says it is the medicine of medicines. Mr. James N. Harden of Rock Castle wished it proclaimed everywhere that his daughter, aged sixteen years, was severely afflicted with cough and blood ing at the Lungs for seven months. She was cured sound and well by using part of one bottle of Dr. Wm. Hall's Balsam for the Lungs. Mr. Wm. Hardon testifies that his wife was greatly afflicted with cough and suffering much with pain in her breast and side, also her little daughter, aged two years, had so greatly suffered with phthisic that her life was despaired of. Both mother and daughter found immediate relief in using Dr. Wm. Hall's Balsam for the Lungs. These are a few of the many testimonials I have received in favor of your great Lung Remedy and if you desire I can send many more which have come to my knowledge. Respectfully yours, I B SMITH Richmond Ky July 10 1850. Sold by REDINGTON & CO 416 and 418 Front street, San Francisco who are also agents for the Pacific Coast for the sale of Scovill's Blood and Liver Syrup, and we would invite the attention of those who suffer from scrofula, eruptions or any other impurity of the blood to Scovill's Blood and Liver Syrup, as it will cleanse the blood and permanently eradicate from the system the cause of the disease, the obvious restoring health and vivacity to the system. Scovill's Blood and Liver Syrup is compounded upon scientific principles and with great care. We do not pretend it is a panacea, nor that in all cases and under all circumstances it is absolutely infallible. Common sense teaches us that the day of Miracles has passed, but science and facts remain. We call attention to Scovill's Blood and Liver Syrup. The noble science of medicine is controlled by the same powers which govern the entire world. We ask the invalid patients simply to take this medicine for [illegible] in cases of goitre, syphilitic or scrofulous tumors, ulceration of the bones, etc., and if they drop it they will receive from it but [illegible] little [illegible] the money expended for it as comparatively thrown away, [illegible] until [illegible] Scovill's Blood and Liver Syrup is through the secret [illegible] the [illegible] virus or poisonous principles, [illegible] them from the [illegible] until they are carried from the system. good blood is transported through the vessels to the [illegible] REDINGTON & CO Agents, 416 and 418 Front street, San Francisco, and for sale by all Druggists. my5 1m

AN OLD CAMP.—The fine bottom near the river, just below the [illegible] city, is exten[illegible] sively patronized by travelers on their route to the mines, as a camping ground. It is a fine location, and [illegible] camp is part of the history [illegible] was near that spot that a coup[illegible] stepped ashore from an India[illegible] to Van[illegible] couver, from O[illegible] a night in November, 18[illegible] impres[illegible] sions were conce[illegible] ncere ult[illegible] in the growth [illegible] of our city. Then it was but a dense [illegible] unexplored, and very little [illegible] meandering streams were born[illegible] through a sea of romance, [illegible] no sound [illegible] the dash of th[illegible] But what changes have taken place [illegible] the two last decades. Standing upon the [illegible] old camping ground to-day we see the [illegible] lined with floating palaces, for the [illegible] dation of our commercial resources, [illegible] churches, educational institutions, man[illegible] actories, work shops, and stores on every sid[illegible], and the happy homes of thousands. Noting present events what may we conjecture from the next decade, standing upon the same old camping ground?

A NEST OF STEAMERS.—Our people had a fine opportunity yesterday of seeing the various steamers that are employed regularly in the different trades during the week. The John H Couch, of the Astoria line, was lying at her berth at Knott's wharf. The Cowlitz, and the Express, opposition steamers in the Cowlitz river line, the Julia and the Rescue, running opposition to the Cascades, and the New World, the main boat of the O S N Company's line, all lay snugly together from the foot of Alder street to the lower end of Pioneer wharf, encircling the stock barge Carrie Ladd. At Couch's wharf the P T Company's steamer Senator lay with the only craft for a neighbor an ocean vessel.

CASUALTIES.—Several accidents have occurred during the past two days, the more severe ones being connected with horse back riding. One man had his leg broken on Saturday evening, by having his horse fall upon him, near the Farmer's Hotel, and yesterday another was severely injured by a fall from a horse on Front street, at the junction of Washington. An accident of a like nature occurred at the Red House yesterday, in which the unfortunate received a stunning blow upon the head, in colliding with a post or tree. The nags of this country "go it," when they go!

WHAT THE DIFFERENCE IS.—The receipts of gold from this quarter, in San Francisco, are seldom properly credited, although it occasionally happens that receipts from "the northern gold fields of British Columbia and Oregon" gives place to something like the following, which readily shows where the great bulk of treasure is shipped from that is usually credited to "the northern gold fields:"

"The steamer Sierra Nevada brings Victoria dates to April 27th, and Oregon dates to the 25th, with sixty five passengers and $81,593 in treasure from Portland, and $10,836 from Victoria."

COULD NOT MAKE IT.—The steamer Rescue was employed on Saturday, by DeWitt & Co of this city, to ascend the Sandy about two miles to take on 150,000 shingles. She left with an agent of the firm, but could not make the trip up Sandy, in consequence of snags drifting trees, etc, and returned to her wharf without accomplishing her mission.

FOR THE UPPER COUNTRY.—Ten wagons for the upper country, some of which convey families and their household goods, were loaded on steamers in this city yesterday. The principal part of the stock belonging with these wagons will go by the river trail.

HERMAN & MURPHY.—This firm, near the steamship landing on Front street, advertise a general assortment of fruit, groceries, and provisions. A share of the public patronage is solicited.

[S A MORELA]ND J STEELE, Secretaries.

AN OLD CAMP.—The fine bottom near the river, just below the Penitentiary, is extensively patronized by travelers, on their route to the mines, as a camping ground. It is a [illegible] too, and its history as a camp is part of the history of Portland. It was near that spot that a couple of gentlemen stepped ashore from an Indian canoe, on their route to Vancouver, from Oregon City, to pass a night in November, 1843, and where the first impressions were conceived, that have since resulted in the growth and prosperity of our city. Then it was but a dense forest, unexplored, and very little known. The meandering [illegible] were borne on to the ocean through a [dist]ance, solitary, hearing no sound [but the spla]sh of their own waters. But what [changes] have taken place within the two last [decades]. Standing upon the same old camping [groun]d to-day we see the wharves lined with floating palaces, for the accommodation of commercial resources, we see churches, [educatio]nal institutions, manufactories, workshops and stores on every side, and the happy homes of thousands. Noting present events what may we conjecture from the next decade, [standing] upon the same old camping ground?

A FLEET OF STEAMERS.—Our people had an opportunity yesterday of seeing the various [steamers] that are employed regularly in different trades during the week. The John H. Couch, of the Astoria line, was lying at the [wharf] at Knott's wharf. The Cowlitz, [and] the Express, opposition steamers in the Cowlitz river line; the Julia and the Rescue, [in] opposition to the Cascades, and the New World, the main boat of the O S N Company's line, all lay snugly together from the foot of Alder street to the lower end of [the] wharf, encircling the stock barge [Gar]field. At Couch's wharf the P [illegible] Company's steamer Senator lay with the only [illegible] for a neighbor an ocean vessel

CASUALTIES.—Several accidents have occurred during the past two days, the more severe ones being connected with horse-back riding. One man had his leg broken on Saturday evening, by having his horse fall upon him, near the F[arme]r's Hotel, and yesterday another was severely injured by a fall from a horse on Front street, at the junction of Washington. An accident of a like nature occurred at the Red House yesterday, in which the unfortunate received a stunning blow upon the head, by colliding with a post or tree. The nags of this country "go it," when they go!

WHAT THE DIFFERENCE IS.—The receipts of gold from this quarter, in San Francisco, are seldom properly credited, although it occasionally happens that receipts from "the northern gold fields of British Columbia and Oregon" give place to something like the following, which readily shows where the great bulk of gold is shipped from, that is usually credited to "the northern gold fields":

HERMAN & MURPHY.—This firm, near the steamship landing on Front street, advertise a general assortment of fruit, groceries, and [provisions]. A share of the public patronage is solicited.

THE BROOKLYN MILLS.—We paid the Brooklyn flouring mills a short visit on Saturday, and were agreeably surprised to find so good an institution in such a secluded locality. The buildings are commodious and the water [power] we [illegible] keep two run of stones busy [illegible] the greater part of the year. The [illegible] is [illegible] the [illegible] pattern [illegible] in circumference [illegible] in proportion [illegible] gearing and power we should have heard more of the Brooklyn Mills [illegible] is under the supervision of a competent miller Mr McLeran the demand for flour is gradually improved so that the proprietors find trouble in obtaining wheat sufficient to fill their orders. Here is more proof [illegible] the correctness of our opinion that the farmers need have no fears of raising too much grain. Could this one mill be well [supplied] with wheat it is capable of turning out sixty barrels of flour every day, and should there be no demand for the article at home, eventually, there is always a demand elsewhere and ship owners would not be casting about for a lumber ballast for their vessels.

UNION CONVENTION IN TILLAMOOK.—At a meeting of the Union voters of Tillamook county convened pursuant to public notice at the house of J. Quick, on motion of O. H. Davidson J Quick was called to the chair and Peter Wilson was chosen Secretary.

On motion Isaac W. Alderman was elected delegate to the District Convention, to be held at Astoria May 7th to nominate a candidate to represent Tillamook Clatsop and Columbia in the Legislature.

On motion D Wilcox, of Washington county was authorized to cast the vote of Tillamook county in the Convention to be held at Hillsboro for the purpose of nominating a joint Senator for Tillamook Columbia, Clatsop and Washington counties.

J QUICK, Chairman

PETER WILSON, Secretary

GRAIN PERISHING.—We regret to say that the grain in our county is not doing well as a general thing, though in some locations it presents a fair appearance. Thousands of dollars worth of seed has been put into the ground at a great expense, from which, unless we have rain speedily and plentifully, nothing will be realized. Some of the farmers have already turned their animals into their fields as their only means of getting any benefit from their planting the grain having commenced dying. It is not too late to hope for rain, and we cannot believe that it will come too late to do good. One of the heaviest days' rains which we have seen during a residence of fifteen years in California was on the 1st of May, and we have known it to rain every month in the year.—Stockton Independent

KEEP IT BEFORE THE PEOPLE.—That Shelby has received by this steamer the finest assorted stock of Boots and Shoes that has ever before been offered in this market. An ocular demonstration would convince you of the fact. See to it, and consult your interest Oppression after Eating.—Many persons after an ordinary meal feel a sense of weight and discomfort in the region of the stomach, the sure sign of an imperfect digestion and probably the forerunner of a settled dyspepsia. Nothing will relieve this oppression like the PERUVIAN SYRUP acts in a wonderful manner in stimulating the liver to the proper performance of its duty.

Dr Hostetter's Stomach Bitters.—The operation of this palatable remedy upon the stomach, liver and excretory organs is singularly soothing and conservative. It regulates, recruits and purifies them. Dyspepsia in all its forms yields to its control and invigorating properties, and it is recommended to mothers enfeebled by the cares and duties of maternity, as the safest and best tonic they can probably use. In all the crisis of female life it will be found eminently useful and elderly persons will derive much more benefit from it than from ordinary stimulants.—Sold by all Druggists and Dealers every where ap26d1m

Curiosities of the English Language.

The English language, perhaps more than any other, is capable of queer and ingenious uses, misuses, transformations and combinations. The student of the curiosities of literature is astonished at his wonderful susceptibility to odd pranks in the way of orthography, syntax, prosody, pronunciation, rhyme and translation. Some curious effects are sometimes produced by an ingenious arrangement of pronunciation. A device has often been used in political and other partisan songs called "echo verses," in which the sounds of the last words of a line are repeated after the manner of an echo, the whole being so contrived as to express some significant meaning. This, though a short specimen, is a good illustration:

"What are they who pay three guineas
To hear a tune of Paganini's?
(Echo) Pack o'ninnies."

PLAY UPON WORDS.

Of course the whole innumerable host of puns bad and good which are floating about in books and newspapers, as well as in social circles, are all predicated upon similarities in pronunciation. A pun that has in it a sharp and witty meaning is a good thing; but the immense deal of trash and of far-fetched constructions that are put in circulation by laborers after the pun, which is worth nothing if it is not spontaneous, has given this kind of literature a bad reputation, so that few good authors will use it. The similarity of sound has given rise to such senseless productions as the following, which may be queer, but are certainly not witty:

"Mr. Popp, of Poppville, in Popp county, fancying himself to be very popular with his lady love, popped the question to her under the poplar tree, when she referred him to her poppy, who, when asked for his consent, laboring under the influence of ginger-pop, popped him out of the door to the tune of 'Pop goes the weasel.'"

Or this: "You have no business to have any business with other people's business; but mind your own business, and that is business enough."

The following is given as a statement of fact which may possibly add something to its value:

"There is a young man in the army who was born July 4th, at 4 o'clock, P. M., at No. 44 at a street in this city, 1814, a fourth child, has four names, enlisted in Company D, of the Fourth Battalion, Forty-fourth Regiment, fourth company, and on the 4th day of September was appointed Fourth Corporal, and is now going forth to defend his country."

Here is a traveler's report of a conversation with a backwoodsman:

"Whose house?" "Mogs." "Of what built?" "Logs." "Any neighbors?" "Frogs." "What is the soil?" "Bogs." "The climate?" "Fogs." "Your diet?" "Hogs." "How do you catch them?" "Dogs."

An original instance is given of answering two questions at one time:

"Here, Biddy, my darlint, what's the time o' night, and where's the pertaty pudding?"

"It's eight, sir."

Which may as well be followed by an account of a curious misunderstanding:

"I come for the saw, sir," said the urchin.

"What saucer?"

"Why, the saw, sir, that you borrowed."

"I borrowed no saucer."

"Sure you did, sir—borrowed our saw, sir."

"Be off, never saw your saucer."

"But you did, sir—there's the saw, sir, now sir."

"Oh! you want the saw!"

Here is a Quaker toast that has a thought in it:

"This is me and mine to thee and thine. I wish when thou and thine come to see me and mine, that me and mine will treat thee and thine as kindly as thee and thine have treated me and mine."

This is a new version of the old compliment, which runs something after this wise:

"I wish thee and thy folks loved me and my folks as well as me and my folks loved thee and thy folks. For sure, there never was folks, since folks was folks, that ever loved folks half so well as me and my folks love thee and thy folks."

WORDS WITHOUT RHYMES.

Poets have been often greatly puzzled to find rhymes for particular words. It is said that there is no word in the English language which fairly rhymes with "step" or "month." Byron says that it is impossible to find a rhyme for the word "silver." Every little while some inquisitive genius proclaims that some particular word is without a rhyme, and challenges the world to disprove his assertion. Forthwith many people cudgel their brains, and sometimes do produce the desired word. Some years ago the Knickerbocker offered a brass quarter dollar to the person who could find a rhyme to the word "window." The prize was earned by the following effort, which furnishes the rhyme and has some fun in it as well:

A cruel man a beetle caught,
And to the wall him pinned, oh!
Then said the beetle to the crowd,
"Though I'm stuck up, I am not proud,"
And his soul went out of the window.

Somebody has challenged a rhyme for "carpet," and the following was the best production elicited, styled "Lines to a Pretty Barmaid":

Sweet maid of the inn,
'Tis surely no sin
To toast such a beautiful bar pet.
Believe me, my dear,
Your feet would appear
At home on a nobleman's carpet.

A line ending with "harp it" also came near to the mark. A rhyme was found for Timbuctoo, as follows:

I went a hunting on the plains,
The plains of Timbuctoo;
I shot one buck for all my pains,
And he was a slim buck too.

And also for "garden":

Though Afric's lion be not bore
In showmen's stoutly barr'd den,
An "Irish Lion" you may see
At large in Winter Garden.

Hood, in his humorous poems, either originated or adopted the idea of dividing words at the end of a line for the sake of a rhyme. The following, which is floating about, is a specimen of that kind of composition:

A year old to-day is little Molly—
Romping, noisy, fat and jolly;
Too young to walk, and like a polly-wog excited, she goes frollicking about the floor, and golly!
What a laugh!

Leonine verses are those in which the terminations rhyme with the central words. An inscription in the Chapter House of York Cathedral is a beautiful specimen of this:

"Ut Rosa flos florum, sic est domus ista domorum."

FOREIGNERS AND THE ENGLISH LANGUAGE.

The English language must appear fearfully and wonderfully made to a foreigner. One of them, looking at a picture of a number of vessels, said, "See, what a flock of ships."

He was told that a flock of ships was called a fleet, but that a fleet of sheep was called a flock. And it was added, for his guidance in mastering the intricacies of our language, that a flock of girls is called a bevy, that a bevy of wolves is called a pack, and a pack of thieves is called a gang, and a gang of angels is called a host, and a host of porpoises is called a shoal, and a shoal of buffaloes is called a herd, and a herd of children is called a covey, and a covey of beauties is called a galaxy, and a galaxy of ruffians is called a horde, and a horde of rubbish is called a heap, and a heap of oxen is called a drove, and a drove of blackguards is called a mob, and a mob of whales is called a school, and a school of worshipers is called a congregation, and a congregation of engineers is called a corps, and a corps of robbers is called a band, and a band of locusts is called a swarm, and a swarm of people is called a crowd, and a crowd of gentle folks is called the elite, and the elite of the city's thieves and rascals are called the roughs, and a miscellaneous crowd of city folks is called the community or the public, according as they are spoken of as the religious community or secular public.

Now, again, the Hudson river is fast when the ice is immoveable, and then the ice disappeared very fast, for it was loose. A clock is called fast when it is quicker than time; but a man is told to stand fast when he is desired to remain stationary. People fast when they have nothing to eat, and eat fast, consequently, when opportunity offers.

A story is told of a German who attempted to court in English with the aid of a dictionary. Having obtained an interview with an English lady who, having recently lost her husband, must be open to new offers, he opened the business thus:

"High-born madam, since your husband has kicked the bucket—"

"Sir!" interrupted the lady, astonished and displeased.

"Oh, pardon—nine, ten thousand pardon! Now I make new beginning—quite order, beginning. Madam, since your husband have cut his stick—"

It may be supposed that this did not mend matters; and, reading as much in the lady's countenance, he said, perspiring with shame at having a second time missed fire:

"Madam, since your husband has gone to kingdom come—"

This he said beseechingly, but the lady was past propitiation by this time, and rapidly moved toward the door. Taking a last hurried look at his dictionary, the German flew after the lady, crying out in a voice of despair:

"Madame, since your husband, your most respected husband, have hopped de twig—"

This was his sheet anchor, and as this also "came home," of course the poor man was totally wrecked. It turned out that the dictionary he had used had put down the verb sterben (to die) with the following worshipful series of equivalents: 1. To kick the bucket. 2. To cut one's stick. 3. To go to kingdom come. 4. To hop the twig; to hop off the perch into Davy's locker.

A French gentleman who was caressing a dog one day, remarked: "I love de dogs, de cats, de-sheep, de pigs: in short, anyting vat is beastly."

Of course we make as funny mistakes in other languages if we only knew it.

"Miss Blank, it is known, is accustomed to say
Many very queer things in a very queer way;
But of all her mistakes, the absurdest and oddest
Occurred when she called French modiste modest."

PERUVIAN SYRUP,

OR PROTECTED

Solution of Protoxide of Iron,

Has been used with Great Success in Curing

DYSPEPSIA,

Affections of the Liver, Dropsy, Neuralgia, Bronchitis and Consumptive Tendencies, Disordered State of the Blood, Female Complaints, Chronic Diarrhœa, Boils, Scurvy, the prostrating effects of Lead or Mercury,

GENERAL DEBILITY,

and all Diseases which require a

Tonic and Alterative Medicine.

THE PROOFS OF ITS EFFICACY are so numerous, so well authenticated, and of such peculiar character, that sufferers cannot reasonably hesitate to receive the proffered aid.

The class of diseases for which the Syrup provides a cure, is precisely that which has so often baffled the highest order of medical skill. The facts are tangible, the witnesses accessible, and the safety and efficacy of the Syrup incontrovertible.

From well-known Citizens of Boston.

The undersigned having experienced the beneficial effects of the "Peruvian Syrup," do not hesitate to recommend it to the attention of the public.

Certificate of Dr. Hayes.

It is well known that the medicinal effects of Protoxide of Iron is lost by even a very brief exposure to air, and that to maintain a solution of Protoxide of Iron, without further oxidation, has been deemed impossible.

In the Peruvian Syrup, this desirable point is attained by COMBINATION IN A WAY BEFORE UNKNOWN; and this solution may replace all the proto carbonates, citrates and tartrates of the Materia Medica. A. A. HAYES, M.D.,

IODINE WATER.

IODINE WATER IS THE MOST IMPORTANT DISCOVERY of modern chemistry, and it is impossible to over-estimate its influence as a remedial agent. Iodine has been considered the most useful article in Materia Medica, and many of the most scientific and practical chemists and physicians have investigated its effects upon the human system. It is to act upon the

HEART,
LIVER, KIDNEYS,
DIGESTIVE ORGANS AND GLANDULAR SYSTEM,

and to have great control over

SCROFULOUS AFFECTIONS.

Notwithstanding the zeal and ability which have been devoted to its investigation, it remained almost useless, until Dr Henry Anders, a physician and chemist of New York, after years of patient labor and experiment, discovered a chemical process which enabled him to dissolve without a solvent. This, considered impossible by the scientific world, is attested by certificates of analysis from Dr. J. R. Chilton of this city, and Prof. Booth, U. S. Mint, Philadelphia. The importance of this discovery was so highly appreciated by the Faculty that it was published in the Medical Journals, and its use recommended to practitioners (see "American Medical Monthly," July 6, 1856, page 76.)

PURE IODINE IN PURE WATER.

This valuable medicine is now available to the public for the cure of Scrofula in all its manifold forms, Consumption, Cancer, Heart, Liver and Kidney Diseases, Rheumatism, Neuralgia, Nervous Affections, Dyspepsia, Bronchitis, etc.

AS A TONIC

Its operation is evinced by strengthening the digestive organs and increased nutrition of the body, the result of the employment of Iodine. The patient recovers flesh, strength and color; hitherto pale, relaxed and feeble, he becomes full, strong and florid.

Full directions accompany each bottle.

Sold by all Druggists. Price, $1 per bottle. Prepared by Dr H. Anders & Co, Physicians and Chemists, New York.

HOSTETTER'S

STOMACH BITTERS.

THE OPERATION OF THIS PALATABLE REMEDY upon the stomach, liver and excretory organs is singularly soothing and conservative. It regulates, recruits and purifies them. Dyspepsia in all its forms yields to its control and invigorating properties.

Invigorate the System.

Vigorous digestion and pure bile produce nutritious blood, and nutritious blood a healthy frame. Does the victim of a dyspeptic stomach and a disordered liver desire to know how the digestion may be improved, the bile and other fluids of the body purified?

Dr. Hostetter's Stomach Bitters

Will accomplish this desirable revolution in the system, regulating the secretions and excretions, giving tone to the animal juices which dissolve the food, strengthen every relaxed nerve, muscle and fibre, and brings the whole machinery of vitality into vigorous and healthful play.

Strengthen the System.

The best means of imparting vigor to the broken-down frame and shattered constitution, which has yet been invented or discovered, is proffered to the feeble of both sexes and all ages in

Dr. Hostetter's Stomach Bitters.

Debility, from whatever cause arising, may be cured; strength, in whatever manner it may have been wasted, may be restored by the use of this powerful and healthy invigorant. For Indigestion and all its painful effects, bodily and mental, they are a positive specific.

A word to the Aged.

In the decline of life the loss of vital force consequent upon physical decay can only be safely supplied by some vivifying preparation which recruits the strength and spirits, without entailing the exhaustion which is always the final effect of ordinary stimulants. We tender to the aged

Dr. Hostetter's Stomach Bitters,

As an invigorant and restorative, immediate in its beneficial action and permanent in its effects. It tones the stomach, improves the appetite, and acts like a charm upon the spirits.

For Females.

Thousands of ladies resort to it as a remedy for hysteria, fluttering of the heart, nervous headache, vertigo, general debility, and all peculiar disturbances and derangements to which, as a sex, they are subject. It cheers and enlightens the depressed mental powers, as well as strengthens the body, and its use is never followed by any reaction.
